GRAND TARGHEE RESORT OPENS WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 21ST

Grand Targhee officially kicks off its 2007-2008 season on Wednesday, November 21st with a partial opening of Fred's Mountain via the resort's high-speed quad chair Dreamcatcher. All terrain south of the Dreamcatcher lift line is closed while most terrain north of the Dreamcatcher lift, including Chief Joseph Bowl, is open from summit to base. Beginner and lower intermediate terrain will also be accessible with the opening of the Shoshone and Magic Carpet Lifts. Visitors will also enjoy Nordic skiing in Rick's Basin.

Discounted lift rates are in effect until more terrain opens and the following pricing represents full and half day prices:

Adults (ages 13-64) @ $41 versus $59

Seniors (ages 65 & older) @ $30 versus $38

Children (ages 6-12) @ $29 versus $36

Children 5 years and younger free with paid adult

A Shoshone Lift only lift ticket is also available @ $31 for full day and $24 half day. Guests can expect most visitor services to be available on opening day (rental skis will be available). A full Thanksgiving menu is also planned for the Targhee Steakhouse and reservations are required (353-2300, ext. 1368). Resort officials are stressing that everyone use extreme caution while early season conditions exist. "We're happy to turn on the Dreamcatcher lift with access to some great advanced terrain, but stress that everyone should ski and ride with caution due to limited snow pack in some areas of the mountain," said Scott Pierpont, General Manager. Grand Targhee anticipates opening their second mountain, Peaked Mountain, when snow conditions permit. The resort is currently reporting a 41" base at their 9,200 foot snow stake.

Grand Targhee continues to offer their Unconditional Snow Guarantee & Snowcheck Policy valid on all full-day lift tickets. If a guest finds snow or ski conditions unsatisfactory and turns their ticket into the ticket booth within an hour, they receive a full day voucher to use another day during the current season.
